Book review information. About a third of the journal comprises historiographical reviews and review articles. The former provide broad overviews of a field - books, articles, exhibitions, databases, and other contributions - with an emphasis on recent developments.
Review articles, by contrast, discuss a particular body of books, listed at the start.

The aim of book reviews that journals publish is to provide insight and opinion on recently published scholarly books. Thus, if the book review that you have written is about an academic book, you should be able to get it published in a journal. Book reviews are a good publication option for early - career researchers as it allows the
