Casa Malaparte (also Villa Malaparte) is a house on Punta Massullo, on the eastern side of the isle of Capri, Italy.It is one of the best examples of Italian modern and contemporary architecture.. The house was conceived around 1937 by the well-known Italian architect Adalberto Libera for Curzio Malaparte. Malaparte actually rejected Libera's design and built the home himself with the help of ...

Casa Malaparte is located on the Punta Massullo overlooking the Gulf of Salerno, on the island Capri. It was firstly designed by Adalberto Libera, a rationalist modernist architect whom Malaparte hired around 1937. Libera was in charge of the overall design of the house, but towards the end of the process, Malaparte dismissed him. Craving for something more radical and a place that would be a ...

Seen from above, Villa Malaparte is a long brick red rectangle perched on the stark cliff above Punta Massullo encircled by just a few coastal trees and a dramatic sight from the Pizzolungo trail above. Beneath this eye-catching villa, the sparkling waves of the sea stretch to the horizon in a kaleidoscope of blues and greens. This villa is one of the best examples of Italian rationalist ...

And then there it is - Villa Malaparte below you, looking unbelievable. You can't go down (there is a private path, but I don't think it gets you very far). Linger a while and then move back to Capri Town along the path passing the Faraglioni rocksacks and Hotel Punta Tragara where Churchill and Eisenhower stayed in WW2. A couple of hours of beauty, in the natural world and by the hand of humans.

Casa Malaparte has interested me for years. I finally decided to learn more about the house and read this book, which is an excellent look at the house's famous owner and its creation. Almost fully half of the book is devoted to transcriptions of primary resources and historic images. Several drawings and new photos complete the book. I wish at least some of the photos were printed in color.

Casa Malaparte Out of print "There was something in Capri, in its most wild, most solitary, most dramatic part, where the island, nearly human, becomes ferocious, where nature expresses itself with a cruel and incomparable strength, an extremely pure and linear promontory, which tore up the sea with its cutting claw. No place in Italy has such a wide horizon to stare at, nor such a depth ...
