but that this is not true. He attributes variation to the conditions that species have been exposed to under several successive generations.

The Origin of Species Chapter 5- Laws of Variation Summary ...

Darwin said that some are born with long necks that would spread through the population. Eventually, a new species, with long necks evolved. Lamarck's idea was that each would have to undergo separate, internal change. Darwin's theory says that within a population, changes occur as the balance of new inherited traits spread across the population.
