A good 748 will put out roughly 15hp less then a 916, but the torq figures are more like 30lb's difference. I'm not going to recommend either bike if its your first Ducati, unless you've got the money for "potential" major service. If you are desperately seeking a Ducati with that body style, I'd hold out for a 998.

The Ducati 996 that followed in 1999 kept the larger engine, but the base model 996 didn't have all the other fancy suspension bits as the 996SPS. Smaller than the Ducati 916 but nice: the Ducati 748. Maybe you should get a Ducati 748! Specs of the Ducati 748 (base, biposto) Weight: 202kg (445 lbs), a few less than the 916 but basically the same

Ducati Motorcycles. Ducati is an Italian manufacturer of motorcycles, spork bikes, and street bikes. Established in 1926, in the city of Bologna, Italy, Ducati is best known for their motorcycles' L-twin engines. Ducati motorcycles were first produced post WWII, and started as simple motors attached to bicycles.
