The Black label series have never excited the same interest as their more glamorous Red label counterparts. The notion is current that the recordings were almost exclusively of the type known as "domestic", i.e. records intended to find a market principally in their country of origin, and by artistes of lesser importance. While this is partially true of records issued during the period of ...

The first HMV labels introduced in December 1910 were black or pink (Bennett called this color violet-red, and it appeared so frequently), followed two years later by the double-sided "B" and "C" series with plum labels. These are discussed in greater detail below. They were followed by the "D" and "E" series, introduced in February 1918, both with black labels. These were replaced by red ...

HMV records belonging to the ASD series come in 6 different labels and vary greatly in value accordingly. As said previously, generally records with 3 digits after the prefix are more valuable than ones with 4. The first label is the most valuable and runs from ASD251 to ASD575. The second label runs from ASD576 to ASD2480.

HMV kept the scarlet label fairly exclusively classical Gigli, Caruso, Adrian Boult, but it made the occasional concession to Jeannette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy. Turning to the HMV catalogue for 1944-45, I see that although it shows three double titles by 'Fats' Waller, including a duet with Bennie Paine, on plum label, all the other Waller discs some 12 of them are on the cheap magenta label.

The HMV/Nipper trademark is now owned by the retail chain in the UK. The formal trademark transfer from EMI took place in 2003. The old HMV classical music catalogue is now controlled by the Warner Classics unit of Warner Music Group. Reissues of HMV pop material that EMI previously controlled are now reissued on Warner's Parlophone label.
