Ice is a novel by Anna Kavan, published in 1967. Ice was Kavan's last work to be published before her death, the first to land her mainstream success, and remains her best-known work. Generally regarded as genre-defying, it has been labelled a work of science fiction, Nouveau roman, and slipstream fiction.

“ As her fate, she accepted the world of ice, shining, shimmering, dead; she resigned herself to the triumph of glaciers and the death of the world. ” Her hair was a blizzard, a shimmering cascade of pale luminous moonlight. She was fragile as if made of glass and crystal, built like a waif with pallid skin and bruised eyes.

ANNA KAVAN (1901 – 1968), née Helen Woods, was born in Cannes — probably in 1901; she was evasive about the facts of her life — and spent her childhood in Europe, the USA and England. Ice by Anna Kavan is written in a superb style that makes virtually any New York Times bestseller look like a mediocre freshman paper. This is the only reason I gave the book two stars. The bad: The book is rife with unnecessary descriptions and distractions that can be quite tedious. The narration can be confusing because the protagonist daydreams, and his visions are weaved into the ...
