This is a book about life modeling. Unlike the painter whose name appears beside his finished portrait, the life model, posing nude, perhaps for months, goes unacknowledged. Standing at a unique juncture—between nude and naked, between high and low culture, between art and pornography—the life model is admired in a finished sculpture, but ...

First off, it seems that lots of lives are literally works of art, or parts of works of art. Captain Ahab's life is part of Melville's novel, Moby Dick, for example. But my life isn't a work of art in this sense, and I don't suppose anyone thinks I should regard myself as part of a novel written by someone else.
