Political activism of the early nursing pioneers took the form of creating the models for professional education. The year 1873 heralded the opening of Nightingale-influenced nurse-training schools and the beginning of the modern nursing movement in the United States. Early nursing leaders implemented many of Nightingale's ideas about nursing.

As a nurse, I feel very strongly about being involved in organizations and politics. We are here to improve patients' quality of life, which is not limited to their inpatient stay and is affected by their environment outside the hospital, including all the policies put forth by local and national government. We must join forces as nurses to promote a better future for our patients—and for our own families!
