"A Sport and a Pastime" is about the brief romance between Philip Dean, a college drop-out, and Anne-Marie, a young French girl, in the early Sixties. It's also about the narrator, unnamed and unreliable (he imagines many things that he couldn't have seen actually play out, unless he was in the room with the young lovers).

"Since its publication in 1967, during the decade of sexual revolution, A Sport and a Pastime has set the standard not only for eroticism in fiction, but for the principal organ of literature - the imagination. What appears at first to be a short, tragic novel about a love affair in France is in fact an ambitious, refractive inquiry into the nature and meaning of storytelling, and the reasons we are compelled to invent, in particular, romances.
