Strategikon The Middle Ages

Describing in detail weaponry and armor, daily life on the march or in camp, clothing, food, medical care, military law, and titles of the Byzantine army of the seventh century, the Strategikon offers insights into the Byzantine military ethos. In language contemporary, down-to-earth, and practical, the text also provides important data for the historian, and even the ethnologist, including eyewitness accounts of the Persians, Slavs, Lombards, and Avars at the frontier of the Empire.

early date According to George Dennis, in his introduction to his translation of the Strategikon, p.xvi: "Scholars are generally agreed that the Strategikon was composed between 575, when hostilities were renewed with the Persians, and 628, when they were finally defeated. Other enemies of the Byzantine Empire named in the text are the Lombards, who appear after 568, the Avars and Slavs, who caused trouble in the mid-570s, and the Antes, about whom nothing is recorded after 601."
