Teaching with Technology: Creating Student-Centered Classrooms

Ridgefield Park, N.J. – June 23, 2015 – Although 90 percent of teachers believe that technology in the classroom is important to student success, 60 percent of teachers feel they are inadequately prepared to use technology in classrooms, according to research released today by Samsung Electronics America and GfK. A nationwide survey of K-12 teachers revealed that while schools are taking ...
