A brilliant book from German writer Heinrich Boll with close cropped narrative and wonderful interior monologues from a clown in Germany and his views of misanthropy and sadness in those around him. A wonderful read that finely and necessarily and by far outshines anything remotely described as modern fiction of today which was of course written yesterday.

The Clown is written in the first person. We see others only through the eyes or mind of the clown, Schnier; and for the most part others are seen only through his memory of the past. Indeed, Maria, his lover who has left him for a Catholic, and the one upon whom he relies and for whom he pines to make himself complete, appears only in memory.
