The Metaphor Of God Incarnate by Hick, John

This 'soft' divinity, expressed in the 'son of God' metaphor, eventually developed into the 'hard' metaphysical claim that Jesus was God the Son, second person of a divine Trinity, incarnate. Of course, this assumes that a certain amount of time must pass before the thinking of Jesus' disciples could mature enough to make such bold claims as 'Jesus is God Incarnate.'

The Mystery Of God Incarnate - leaderu.com

In several places (e.g. his contributions to The Metaphor of God Incarnate, and his book The Myth of God Incarnate) Hick proposes a reinterpretation of traditional Christology—particularly the doctrine of the Incarnation. Hick contends "that the historical Jesus of Nazareth did not teach or apparently believe that he was God, or God the Son, Second Person of a Holy Trinity, incarnate, or the ...
