Similar to another treatment for phobias known as systematic desensitization, behavior modeling exposes the phobic patient to the object or situation he fears, however, the confrontation is experienced by another person rather than by the patient himself. 3 ? When witnessing the model respond to the phobia with relaxation rather than fear, the patient has a reference framework for imitating that response.

Using Behavior Modeling Theory for Phobic Patients

Almost all phobias can be successfully treated and cured. Simple phobias can be treated through gradual exposure to the object, animal, place or situation that causes fear and anxiety. This is known as desensitisation or self-exposure therapy. You could try these methods with the help of a professional or as part of a self-help programme.
