This book is simply three of Ayckbourn's better known plays - essentially the scripts for each of them. In Absurd Person Singular, the play unfolds over three successive Christmases in the kitchens of three couples; a young couple with a philandering husband, an older middle class gent and his wife, and then the well meaning but to the others awful up and coming property developer.

Absurd Person Singular is a three act play of which there are only two in the Ayckbourn canon (Surprises being the second). However, several early plays such as Family Circles and Season's Greetings were initially produced as three act plays, but were then later altered to two acts by the playwright.

Absurd Person Singular was the fifth of my plays to be performed in London's West End although, like its predecessors, it started life in Scarborough in a modest 250-seat theatre-in-the-round. The auditorium was a makeshift affair; borrowed seats on rickety rostra in a small airless room of the public library.
