Step surgery to replace the hip socket and the ball at the top of the thighbone (femur). Doctors use metal, ceramic, or plastic replacement parts. The parts may be attached to the bones in one of two ways. They may be:

- Cemented to the bone.
- Uncemented. These parts have a porous coating that the bone grows into.

replaced with uncemented implants, since these have been shown to be more durable and to be easier to revise than cemented sockets.

Controversies in Hip Replacement - Kaiser Permanente

Anterior hip replacement surgery is done through a small incision in the front (anterior) of the hip. This causes less damage to muscles and other soft tissues than the more common type of surgery. There is also a lower risk of the new ball on the thighbone slipping out of the hip socket (dislocation).
